MANDARIN-ROMANIZED

DICTIONARY or CHINESE

TO THE USER OF THIS DICTIONARY.

[llan.-This is practically a phrase-book in which Mandarin so largely predominates as to justify the name " Romauized-Mandarin Dictionary." In the first column is found the pronunciation, according to the most widely accepted system of Romanization (Wade's), of some 4,500 Chinese characters, ninety-five per cent. of which are followed by a group of characters, which when affixed to the introductory character, constitute a phrase, either Mandarin, or more rarely Wên-li. The order of letters in the English alphabet determines the order in which the syllables are printed, not only for the initials but also for all the phrases arranged under each character. (In this edition the old order of hs- ssŭ, ts- at end is changed to natural order and $u$ precedes $\mathfrak{i i}$ instead of following, in harmony with other recent authorities.) The most numerous group under a tone comes first in order, with the single character, requiring infrequent reference at the end. Next to the Romanized stands the radical and any other ways of writing the character.

In the second column, opposite the corresponding sound, are found the appropriate Chinese character or characters. The first character of a group is followed by a figure, a letter, a second figure and a letter. The first figure refers the reader, if he cares, to the page of Giles' Chinese-English Dictionary, on which the character is found, while the letters $a, b, c$ will enable him to locate the column which contains it. The second figure and letters show the place in Williams' Dictionary in the same way. Thus users of Giles or Williams may at once refer to them for fuller information without the labor of searching in their radical indexes.

Thirdly, opposite the Chinese is found a necessarily brief definition. In some cases references to other sources of information are appended, either to the four authorities named below or to notes at the end of the volume. To economise space (tzŭ) 子 is printed after each single character which may have that enclitic without perceptible difference in meaning. The word "same" means that the meaning is the same as the previous entry.

Fourthly, after many of the definitions are found in brackets romanized words and phrases, cognate or parallel to those definitions. These which even the beginner can readily turn up, will conduct to fresh fields and enlarged knowledge.

The Romanigation.-The system followed is that known as Wade's, which practically holds the field in Chinese dictionaries. A comparative table of systems in use is prefixed.

Tbe Toncs.-These are corrected according to Goodrich and Giles. An attempt, only partially successful, has been made to show the tones as modified by meaning.

Contents of Dictionary.-While Kuan-hua preponderates, a number of Wên-li phrases are also allowed a place, especially if common in the speech of scholars. As to which are Kuan-hua and which $W \hat{e} n-l i$ the student must ask his teacher, or better trust his own ears. There are about seren thousand more phrases now inserted than in the first revision.

Ose of Dictionary. - Its chief use is held to be to aid the learner in acquiring the SPOKEN language (both sound and written form). He is cautioned, however, that not every phrase here should be indiscriminately learned and used. As Arthur H. Sinith says: "Let him test his acquisitions like bank notes to see if they will pass!" Speaking generally each person must use his own judgment as to what phrases he shall finally incorporate into his own working vocabulary. By careful listening and questioning teachers and others, he can usually decide correctly as to what to use and what to lay aside.

The learner having heard a word, or better a phrase, will find this Dictionary come to his aid even in the absence of a teacher: ist, that he may understand what he has heard ; 2nd, that he may ascertain its written form without laborious searching in Radical Indexes and huge dictionaries : and 3rd, that he may at the same time find a group of phrases more or less related to the one he has just heard.

［ v ］

To suppose a case：the learner has heard the expression 安居樂業．If he can，from hearing，judge that the first sound is $A n^{\prime}$ ， he turns at once to $A n^{\prime}$ ，and under it he finds the phrase in question together with its relatires，and at the same time a ready road to larger dictionaries．To suppose another case：in reading he finds the character 安．If he knows its sound，he may at once find it and its group as in the preceding case．But if he does not recogrise it， a reference to the Radical Index at the back will at once show where the character and its group are to be found．

Note．The labor expended on this work，and the vast differ－ ences from the original＂Stent，＂practically make it a new book． The old name has therefore been dropped and a life of Geo．Carter Stent will preserve his fame and memory．

GEORGE CARTER STENT．

While belonging to the British Legation Escort in Peking in 1869，Mr．Stent first discovered a taste for the study of Chinese， cliefly in its colloquial form，and his aptitude and perseverance received their first encouragement from Mr．（afterwards Sir Thomas）Wade，British Minister to Peking，himself famous for his 自辣集 or Colloquial Lessons and other works on Chinese． Mr．Stent then joined the Foreign Customs Service，serving successively at Chefoo，Shangliai，Wenchow，and Swatow． Early in 1882 he was appointed to Takow，Formosa，and in May， 1883 ，he became assistant－in－cliarge of the Customs at that port，which post he continued to hold till ist September，I884， the day of his death．

His chief literary work was his＂Chinese and English Vocabulary in the Pekingese Dialect．＇＇He early showed a taste for colloquial novels，and began making a collection of phrases on the plan now so well－known，and followed in all subsequent editions．The first edition can1e out in 1871 and the second in 1877 ．Its popularity was erident from the begin－ ning．In 1874 he also published a＂Chinese and English Pocket Dictionary．＂

He was a member of the China Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society，to whose Journal he contributed three papers（see Vol． VII and XI）．In＂Scraps from 1ny Sabretache＂he described some of his early experiences as a soldier in India．His＂Jade Chaplet＂，＂Fanning the Grave＂，etc．，show that he lad con－ siderable skill as a versifier and translator．Mr．Stent＇s career in China and his literary achievements furnish a good example of what can be accomplislied－with perseverance，enthusiasm， and good sense－even by one who has failed to enjoy the ad－ vantage of a liberal education．

Insignia of Civil and Military Officers．

The distinguishing badges of civilians re all birds；they are worn on the reast and back of their official robes in a guare patch of embroidery，as follows：－

仙 鶴 Manchurian crane．
2．錦 鷄 Golden pheasant．
3．孔䧲 Peacock．
4．雲 烋 Wild goose．
5．白 問肩 Silver pheasant．

7．榔 㵲 Mandarin duck．
8．樢 鶉 Quail．
9．練 雀 Long－tailcd jay．
10．黄 麗鳥 Oriole．

The insignia of military officials are all animals，but they are not so strictly distinguished as the civilians；they are worn in the following order．

1．踑麟 The unicorn of Chinese fable。
2．獅 子 The lion of India．
3．等 T The leopard．
4．虎 The tiger．
5．熊 Black bear．
7．$\}$ 虔 $\left\{\begin{array}{l}\text { Tiger cat．} \\ \text { Wear the mottled bear 爵．}\end{array}\right.$
8．海 馬 The seal．
9．屝 牛 The rhinoceros．

The oriole is worn by the lowest grade of underlings．The Chnang－yuan，or ienior Hanlin，wears the egret．The wives of officials wear the same embroidery is their husbands，but no knobs．

The ranks in both services have been further distinguished in the present lynasty by different colored knobs on their caps．The first two wear red coral ； She third，clear blue；the fourth，lapis lazuli；the fifth，quartz crystal ；the sixth， spaque white stone or adularia；and the last three，gilded yellow．

For Table of the 24 terms of the year，see Note 21.
For Tables of 地 支 and 天干，see Notc 32 and Note 81 ．
